Sermon:

A God that Commands

Psalm 91

A Time of Prayer for God's Mercy

For the foreseeable future, we will not be having a potluck lunch or meet for our afternoon service. Lord willing, the church will be open each Sunday morning for a time of praise, prayer & encouragement from the Word. If circumstances prevent us from gathering here together in the future, we encourage you to not neglect the worship of God, and to spend considered time in his Word, and in prayer, until the time that we can enjoy fellowship together again.

There is a box on the back table for your offering to the Lord.

This Week at VBC

I will say of the LORD, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in him will I trust. . . He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shalt thou trust: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler. Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flies by day; Nor for the pestilence that walks in darkness; nor for the destruction that wastes at noonday.

Psalm 91:2,4-6

SERMON NOTES

A God that Commands
Psalm 91

For Such a Time as This - Living in Interesting Times

Weak Refuges for the Christian

- Statistics - “Chances are. . .” “My risk factors suggest. . .”
- Popular wisdom - “I read on Instaface that. . .”
- Public policy - “We have everything under control. . .”
- Human nature - “People will react rationally. . .”

Diabolic Confusion for the Christian

Matt 4:6-7

God is a magic charm.

If God loves you, then you will never suffer.

Christ: “My Father’s loving care does not require testing.”

Secure Comfort for the Christian

Psalm 91

Proclaiming our security

1-4

It is both strong & tender.

Explaining our security

5-10

It is comprehensive & controlled.

Identifying our security

11-13

It is constant and careful.

Personalizing our security

14-16

Our Father guards us himself.

Our Savior abides with us constantly.

O Lord, Remind us of your power

Manifest your glory

Show us your tender mercy

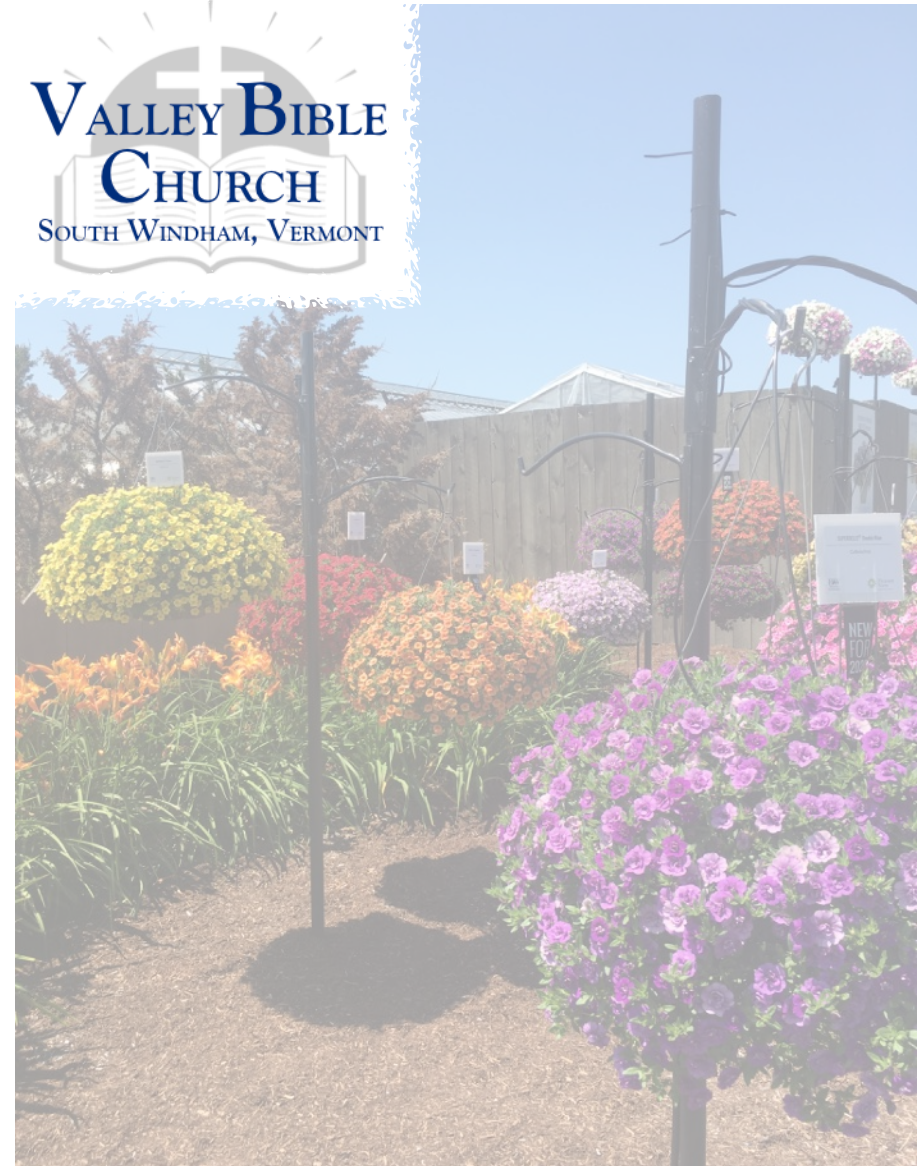

Deliver us from our fears

Lead us in the paths of righteousness

Help us be a light

no evil shall be allowed to befall you, no plague come near your dwelling. - This is a statement of God’s exact, minute providence, not a charm against adversity. The no less sweeping promise of Romans 8:28 does not exclude ‘nakedness, or peril, or sword’. What it does assure us is that nothing can touch God’s servant but by God’s leave.

NOT UNTO US, O LORD, NOT UNTO US, BUT UNTO THY NAME GIVE GLORY, FOR THY MERCY, AND FOR THY TRUTH’S SAKE.
